Yet there may be some, who stand in need of its healing powers who have not yet tried it. For their sakes we will simply state what it has done in thousand of cause, and what it will do for these aches trail.

cases, and what it will do for them when tried. A VOICE FROM GEORGIA.

Read the following testimony from a Physician. GENTLEMEN.—Your Hebrew Plaster has cured me of pains of which I have suffered for twelve years past. During this god I labored under an affliction of my loins and side, and tried many remedies that my own medical experience sug gested, but without obtaining relief. At length I used your Plaster, and am now by its good effects entirely cured. I will recommend the Jew David or Hebrew Plaster to all, will recommend the sew hard of factor that who are suffering from contraction of the muscles, or permanent pains in the side or back.

The people of Georgia have but to become acquainted with ta wirtees when they will resort to its use.

Messus. Scovil. & Measur.—I have been troubled with the chronic rheumatism for the last twelve years. On the 1st of July 1849, I was so had that I could not turn tayself in bed, and the pain so severe that I had not slept a wink for six days. At this time my attending Physician prescribed the "Hebrew Plester," and it acted like a charm; the pain left me and I slept more than half of the night, and in three days I was able to ride out. I consider the "Hebrew Plaster" the best remedy for all sorts of pains now in use G. W. McMINN.

GRAEFENBERG CHILDREN'S PANACEA. A MOST strange and irreconcilable fact meets us at the very threshold of our remarks on this valuable med cine. It is this -that no medical preparation adapted to the various diseases of children and youth, has ever been offered to the public, while at the same time it is established by the most accurate tables of morthity that one-half the hu-man family die before reaching the ups of five years!

We should surpose that to this great class of human suf-ferers—this one-half of the race—the most anxious and curnest attention would have been given; that medical skill would have been taxed to its utmost capacity to find out a medicine to which mothers and nurses might resert under medicine to which mothers and nurses might reason the constantly recurring necessities which present themselves in this connection. The world is literally crowded with medicines for adults, but towards the sufferings of children no one has seemed to turn proper attention. No one has regarded their condition. No one has seemed to think has regarded that constition. No one has seened to think it possible that the ravages of disease and death among them might be stayed. It is true that there are universals Ver-mitages and Cordinis of some value, but none of these is conduced exclusively to one or two forms of disease. The Graefcaberg Children's Panacea is the only medianae extant in either hemisphere that is at all worthy of being called a Children's Medicine or that supplies the great want allu-

d to. It is invaluable and unsurpassed in cases of infantile jaundice, griping and flatelency, diarrhora, cutaneous eruptions, the thrase, teething, falling of the fundament, convubious rickets, ringworm, scald bead, measles, comp. worms, clusters infantum, wasting of the body, and all diseases moulent to the years of childhood.

I now take pleasure in saying to the public, that my wife had for three or four years been subject to the worst kind of spells of cramp in the stomach from dyspepsia. I had tried of several whom I thought to be the best physicians in the place and a great many different medicines, with momentary relief. Being persuaded to tryour alterative compound, I did so—and I am happy to say that it has entirely cured her; and I would conscentionally recommend it to all persons suffering from diseases of the liver and dyspepsia.

Dr. Blenson—Having seen the publication of your Alterative Compound, I think it my duty to say to the public, that I had been for years subject to spells of Cramp Colic, in its worst form; that I had tried almost every thing that is given by physiciana, and never found any thing that would certainly relieve me, until I tried the above medicine, which may relieve me in every attack in less than an noor. WM. B. LLOYD.

Grass County, Tenn., Dec. 23, 1851.

Da. Burnson:—I feel that I should fall short of my duty to you and to those who are afflicted, were I not to further recommend your Alterative Compound. It has entirely relieved me, so that I have not had cause to take anything in two mouths. I can ast anything I want with impurity, and believe my health is as good as it ever is at my advanced aga. Should I ever suffer from dyspepsia again I shall be sure to call on you. I am very respectfully your friend.

The trial on the indictment for murder, ended on the 8th of April, with the acquittal of Hopkins .-Such results might have been foreseen by comparing the tulents of the counsel engaged on either side. The Texan lawyers were atterly overwhelmed by the argument and eloquence of their opponents. It was a fight of dwarfs against giants.

The slander suit was set for the 9th, and the throng of spectators grew in numbers as well as excitement, and what may seem strange, the current of public sentiment now ran decidedly for Hopkins His money had procured perjured witnesses, who served most efficiently his powerful advocates. Indeed, so triumphant had been the success of the previous day, that when the slander case was called Mary Ellison was left without an attorney-they had all withdrawn. The pigmy-pettifoggers dare not brave the sharp wit of Pike, and the scathing thunder of Prentiss.

"Have you no counsel?" inquired Judge Mills, looking kindly at the Plaintiff.

"No, sir; they have all deserted me, and I am too Mary, bursting into tears. "In such a case, will not some chivalrons member of the profession volunteer?" asked the judge glancing around the bar. The thirty lawyers were silent as death. Judge Mills repeated the question. "I will, your Honor," said a voice from the thickest part of the crowd situated behind the bar. At the tones of that voice many started half away from out of his bed by lynchers, and beaten almost to their seats; and perhaps there was not a heart in that immensely large assembly that did not heat something quicker, it was so unearthly sweet, clear, ringing and mouruful.

The first sensation, however, was changed into general laughter, when a tall, gunnt spectre, a figure that hobody present remembered ever to have seen before, elbowed his way through the crowd, and placed himself within the bar. His appearance was a problem to puzzle the Sphinx herself. His high, pale brow, and small, pervously twitching face, seemed alive with the concentrated essence and cream of genlus; but then his infantile blue eyes, hardly visible beneath their massive arches, looked dim, dreamy, almost unconscious, and his clothing was so exceedingly shabby, that the court hesitated to let the case proceed under his management. "Has your name been entered on the rolls of the State?" demanded the Judge, suspiciously.

"It is immaterial about my name being on your rolls," answered the stranger, his thin, bloodless lips curling up with a fiendish sneer. "I may be allowed to appear once by the courtesy of the court and bar. Here is my license from the highest tribunal in America," and he handed Jydge Mills a broad parchment. The trial immediately went on.

In the examination of the witnesses, the stranger evinced but little ingenuity, as was commonly thought. He suffered each one to tell his own story without interruption, though he contrived to make each one tell it over two or three times. He put few cross questions, which with keen witnesses, only serve to correct mistakes; and he made no notes, 1,910 00 serve to correct instances, always tend to embar-$445,183 26 rass. that they had caught a Tartar; but who it was or how it happened, it was impossible to guess.

Col. Ashley spoke first. He dealt the jury s dish of that close dry logic, which, years afterwards, rendered him famous in the Senate of the Union. The post, Albert Pike, followed, with a rich train of wit, and a hail torrent of caustic ridicule, in which you may be sure neither plaintiff nor the plaintiff's ragged attorney was either forgotten or spared.

The great Prentiss concluded for the defendant, with a glow of gorgeous words, brilliant as showers of falling stars, and with a final burst of oratory that brought the house down in cheers in which the sworn jary themselves joined, notwithstanding the "order!" "order" of the bench. Thus wonderfully susceptible are the south western people to the charms of impassioned eloquence.

It was then the stranger's turn. He had resonined apparently abstracted during all the previous speeches. Still, and straight, and motionless in his seat, his pale, smooth forehead soaring up like a mountain cone of snow; but for that eternal twitch that came and went perpetually in his sallow cises. you would have taken him for a mere man of marble, or a human form carved in ice. Oh! then it was a vision both glorious and dreadful to behold the orator. His action, before graceful as the wave of a golden willow in the breeze. grew impetuous as the motion of the cak in a hurricane. His voice became a trumpet filled with whirlwinds, deafening the ear with crushes of power, and yet mingled all the while with a sweet undersong of the softest cadence. He drew a picture of murder in such appalling colors, that, in comparison, hell itself might be considered heautiful. He painted the slanderer so black, that the sun seemed dark at noon day, when shining on such an accused monster; and then fixed both potenits on the burning brow of Hopkins, and noiled them there forever.-The agitation of the audience nearly amounted to madness.

All at once, the speaker descended from his perilous height. His voice wailed out for the murder ed dead, and described the sorrows of the widowed living-the beautiful Mary more beautiful every moment, as her tears flowed faster-till men wept, and lovely women sobbed like children.
